SIXTH EDITION

PRESENTED BY THE SENIOR CLASS
PEABODY HIGH SCHOOL
PETERSBURG, VIRGINIA

Dedication

---

We dedicate this yearbook to Miss Otelia H. Harrison, scholar, teacher and friend. We wish to pay tribute to her for the many years of untiring effort and unselfish devotion that she gave to Peabody. Her unfailing patience and glowing personality will always live in the hearts of those whom she taught.

The Senior Class of 1956

STANDING: Samuel Brown, photographer.

We hope to bring you in these pages a brief glimpse of our high school life. We bring memories of the laughter and tears, the successes and failures, the pleasures and pains and all the little moments that are so dear to us.

The 1956 Annual Staff

Grace M. Towne

We have been looking forward with great anticipation to the time when we shall leave forever the sheltering arms of our Alma Mater. Finally the day has arrived!

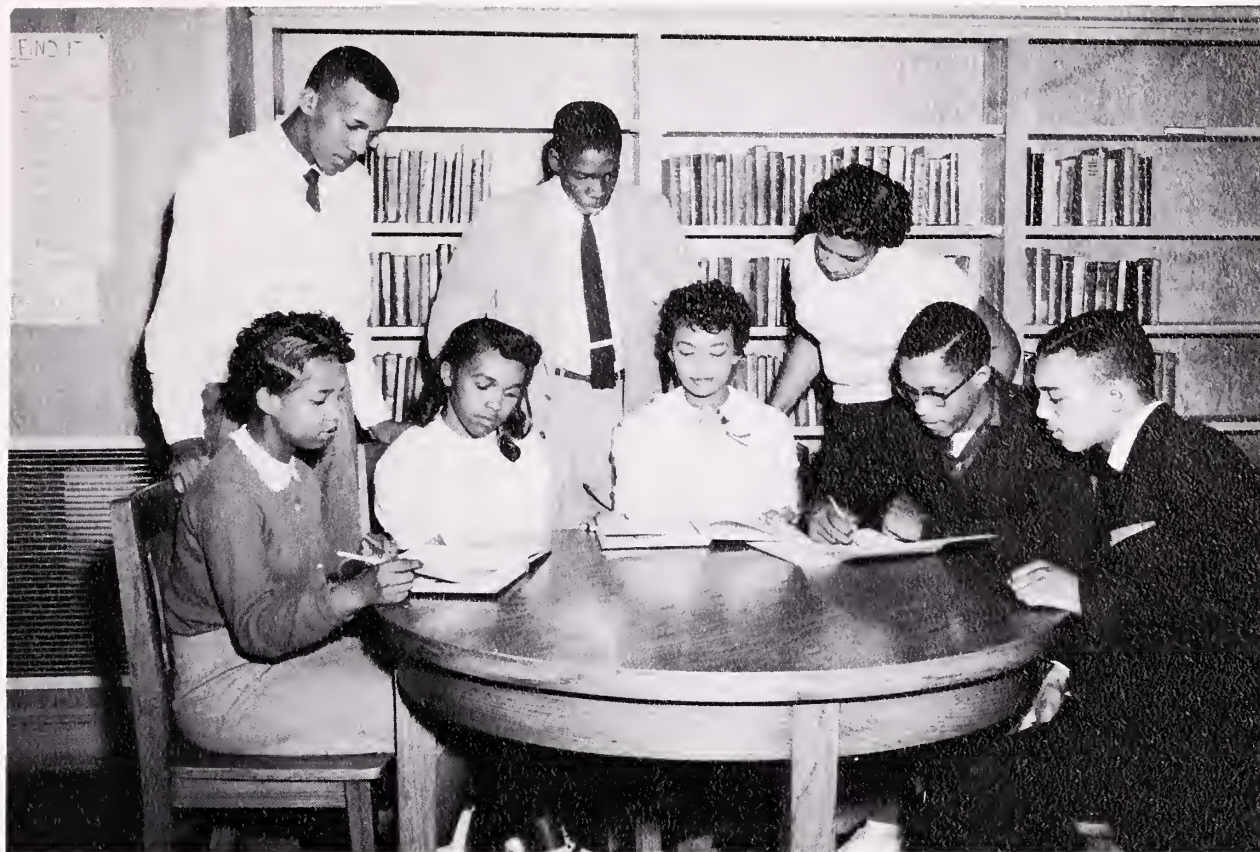

In the memorable days that we have spent at Peabody we have attempted to be worthwhile members of our school; we have taken an active part in the varied activities offered here and have formed many valuable friendships.

In the crucial years ahead each of us will be called upon to play an increasingly important role in the affairs of our nation--in the affairs of a world community. As we set out into an uncharted future may we do so without fear and with a confidence born of wisdom, faith and understanding.

PARTING

We have sojourned here for four long years
And now it's time to part,
But we will always keep with us
Sweet memories in our hearts.

We've learned the lessons here required,
We've to ourselves been true,
And now on this our final day
We bid thee all adieu.

Dear teachers, we thank you for all you've done
To help us on our way.
We thank you with deepest gratitude,
On this our glorious graduation day.

Time has come,
We have set sail;
We cannot tarry more.
To each of you we leave the key
To golden opportunity's door.

Alas! Dear school, we must go
With heartfelt tears and sighs.
The time has come when we must say,
Our last and fond good-byes.

Deloris Duncan
Class Poem

Hail And Farewell

In the beginning, we were one hundred and fifty-five strong. With the guidance of our tolerant sponsors we gradually adjusted ourselves to life in high school. This was the birth of the class of '56...we were freshmen. We made friends, acquired knowledge and experienced many happy days. Judith Cephas was elected treasurer of the Student Council. Moses Martin, William Clarke and Shirley Scott were representatives. Irene Bethea became secretary of the Safety Patrol. Lillian Williamson, Marcellus Heath and Vernon Lee joined the choir. Rusha Lee and Irene Bethea became members of the Library Club.

In September we returned as sophomores. At the beginning of this year we elected Samuel Creighton, president; Samuel Brown, vice-president; Irene Bethea, secretary; Mildred Johnson, assistant secretary and Alease Turner, treasurer. Judith Cephas held the office of secretary of the Student Council. Richard Hayes, Nathaniel Gatlin, Emma Brown, Louise Drumgoole and Emma Taylor were representatives. Participants in the Science Club were Mildred Johnson and Barbara Stewart. Members who joined the band were Joyce Smith, Rusha Lee, Bernice Neverson, Charles Harris, Nathaniel Gatlin and Delma Dance. William Gee and Richard Allen were members of the basketball team with Edward Taylor and Samuel Brown serving as trainers. Members of the girls' basketball team were Deloris Duncan, Lucy Clements, Joyce Randolph and Nellie Conwell. William Freeman became trainer for the baseball team and William Gee was a player. Juanita Owens was the only member of the class to join the Modern Dance Group.

The members of the Junior Athletic Association were Judith Cephas, Samuel Creighton, Amida Griffin, Joyce Randolph and Harold Malloy. Samuel Creighton became a member of the Cheering Squad. Members of the Pep Club were Flossie Johnson, Nellie Conwell, Joan Dillard and Maxine Bullock. Emma Taylor, Amida Griffin and Joyce Randolph enrolled as members of the Junior Red Cross. Emma Brown affiliated herself with the Art Club and Glen Fitzgerald and William Clarke received excellent ratings as members of the Dramatics Club when presented in the State Dramatics Festival. The Projection Crew was happy to have Samuel Brown join its staff. Emma Taylor took upon herself the honored responsibility of president of the New Homemakers of America. Mildred Johnson served as chaplain of the J. E. Shields Science Club.

In the twinkle of an eye we found ourselves juniors. Samuel Creighton had done such an excellent job as sophomore class president that we elected him as president of the junior class. He was assisted by Richard Allen as vice-president; Irene Bethea, secretary; Alease Turner, assistant secretary; Royal Walker, treasurer and Walter Mitchell, chaplain. Led by our able officers we took part in many activities. Autumn was followed by winter, and as the snows melted into the spring we began plans for one of our most exciting projects, the Junior Senior Prom. This was one event that required the services of all class members. The theme selected was "An Evening in Paris." It was beautifully and colorfully carried out in every detail. What memories we have from that night!

SENIOR YEAR...Now the last nine months of our high school life were before us. The first task we undertook was the election of officers to head "that dignified group of intellectuals." Samuel Creighton was again elected president. He also served as captain of the Safety Patrol. Alease Turner was acclaimed "Miss Homecoming" for the homecoming festivities. She presided over the many events of the day with grace and charm.

The senior class selected Senior Day as an occasion on which to pay homage to Miss Harrison who retired last year. She was presented to the student body by the president of the class and was the honored guest at the Senior Day luncheon. Another outstanding event of the day was the presentation of Irene Bethea as "Miss Senior of 1956." Talent among the seniors was displayed to her and her court consisting of Alease Turner, Ina Jones, Juanita Owens and Judith Cephas. Many parents and friends enjoyed the gala affair. Irene was crowned by our class president, Samuel Creighton, who expressed the sentiments of the entire class when he called her a most worthy recipient of the honor.

The activities of the football team were managed by Edward Taylor and squad members were Samuel Brown, Samuel Creighton, Harold Matthews, Marcellus Heath, Richard Allen, Richard Hayes, Charles Harris, Norman Griffin, Charles Raigns and Leonard Reeves. The Art Club was represented by Lillian Williamson, vice-president; Glen Fitzgerald, secretary; Irene Betha, assistant secretary; Barbara Todd, treasurer, Louise Drumgoole, chaplain and Alease Turner, reporter. Vernon Lee participated in Book Week Activities observed in the library.

January featured the school operetta, "Rancho Rivera," in which Vernon Lee, Judith Cephas, Marcellus Heath, Margaret Jordan, William Clarke, Walter Mitchell and Emma Taylor participated. The senior class play, annual prom and graduation activities brought to a close our high school days.

As the strains of the graduation march build slowly to a crescendo in the background we turn the pages of this book and live again our four memorable years of high school. Reluctantly we close the cover and leave forever the corridors and classrooms, the clubs and cafeteria, our teachers and friends, the athletic activities and socials, to take our places as world citizens. To Peabody High School, hail and farewell!

A Look Into The Future

This is your New York society reporter, Lucy Clements. Tonight, we are thrilled to tell you about the achievements of that well known baritone singer, Vernon Lee, who was our classmate at dear old Peabody. Vernon is making his first appearance in the leading role of Rigoletto at the Metropolitan Opera House. Although he is a great celebrity, Vernon has not forgotten us, his former classmates; he has reserved box seats for us at tonight's performance. All arrangements were made by his private secretary, Charlotte Brown. As I passed through the lobby, I saw Irene Bethea who has taken Loretta Young's place on the TV show, "The Loretta Young Show". She is accompanied by Bernice Brooks the wealthy owner of Chrysler Corporation. Upon hearing two familiar voices behind me as I entered the auditorium, I turned and saw Judith Cephas and Joyce E. Brown who have received world recognition as soloist and first pianist with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra. It is a pleasure to see Maxcine Bullock in the big city. She is now in business with Mr. Graves on Halifax St. repairing radios and clocks.

Taking a look around the hall before curtain time I see beautiful dressed Jeffie Dabney and Joyce Randolph, hair stylists, who are now advertising Toni on television. Sitting next to them are Delma Dance and Barbara Todd, well known White House secretaries. As I glance at the program I notice that the settings for tonight's presentation were designed by Moses Martin. He also worked with Barbara Stewart and Mildred Johnson on costumes. Just before the lights dim for Act 1, Margaret Jordan who has her own TV show called "Chit-chat" and Alice Freeman, English teacher at Peabody High, are led to their seats by head usher, Sterling Tucker.

At intermission, in scanning the box seats I see Deloris Duncan and Constance Mitchell, the greatest women athletes of all times, who are playing baseball with the Brooklyn Dodgers. Bernice Edwards who is smothered in mink is the owner of the largest lake resort in the U. S. It's called Edward's Lake.

Lucy Tucker took time off from work at the Freeman's Laundry and Dry Cleaners where she works as cashier for William Freeman to journey up to see her old classmates. In talking with Catherine Graves and Bernell Hayes, managers of the largest hotel in Southern California, I found that Arnida Griffin and Norman Griffin are holding the important positions of principal and assistant principal of Peabody. Flossie Johnson and Annie Hill are the new physical education teachers at Harvard University. Ina Jones and Samuel Brown, noted scientists, are working with the Atomic Energy Commission in Nevada. Berman Mitchell is playing great ball with the New York Yankees and Charles Putney is manager of the new heavyweight champion of the world, Charles Raigns. Ronald Johnson, author of the well known book, "How to Cut Class and Stay Healthy", is also with us.

Imagine my surprise when Bernell told me that Eloise Wilson and Tony Wells are a famous dance team of Chicago billed as Lois and Tony. Doris Thomas is appearing at the same night club where she is making a hit in the starring role of a skit on the life of Dinah Washington. John Hobbs who conducted the band at this same night spot has turned his baton over to John Wynn and has put all his savings in Ye Hobbs Tailor Shoppe. Edward Taylor and Rusha Lee would have been with us tonight but they are honeymooning in Miami. Rusha is Edward's third wife. Marcellus Heath, New York district attorney, is sitting on the center aisle with his attractive wife, he has just closed the case called "Who Kidnapped Loretta Owens"? He was assisted by that well known female F. B. I. agent, Joyce Smith. Frank Washington, Ohio State's most outstanding football player of the year is accompanied by another great athlete, Richard Allen. Richard who made millions selling ice to the Eskimos only plays basketball as a hobby.

Feeling that I need a breath of air I slowly make my way to the lobby. The first person I see is Dr. William Clarke, famous surgeon and brain specialist. With him are his faithful nurses, Nellie Conwell and Louise Drumgoole who are members of his private staff. In a recent newspaper interview he stated that he owed the success of his latest operation to them. In the lobby I can also see General Bernice Morgan, first lady so honored; she is with Major Hazel Pender, who will soon be promoted to lieutenant colonel. We heard that General Morgan was recently given a private chauffeur to carry her on her round of activities. He is an old classmate, Private William Gee. Emma Taylor, who has replaced John Foster Dulles as Secretary of State, was unable to attend the concert because she had to fly to Europe on a secret mission for our well beloved president of the United States, William Lawson. Lawson, who was a world famous basketball player before becoming president, seems to be enjoying the conversation that he is carrying on with opera star, Lillian Williamson and Designer Carolyn Taylor who can fit any woman from size 5 to 55. Approaching them is that well known Louis Carter who has recently won the record for the fastest mile runner in the history of the world. His companion who is equally as famous is Joseph Arrington who received a television award last week for designing the first automobile that can fly. It was appropriately named the Auto Jet. With them is also Dr. Samuel Creighton, thrice president of this class. Samuel is famous for his discovery of a cure for humanity's worst plague, cancer. He is being presented a plaque at luncheon tomorrow in commemoration of his great deed. The award will be made by Harold Malloy, multi-millionaire president of the Malloy Foundation.

Standing to my left is Emma Brown who was given the day off from her position as secretary of the D. O. department of Peabody. She was able to tell me about our other classmates in Virginia who were unable to come tonight. First she told me about Wylene Lane. Wylene, the sophisticated walking lady, has opened a school for models in Petersburg. Audrene Williams and Joyce Williams have pooled their savings and opened the Williams and Williams Shoe Factory. It is so large that it takes up four city blocks. Samuel Lewis is head coach at Carter G. Woodson, and Royal Walker is head coach at Carver High. The Peabody basketball team which is coached by Leonard Reeves has made such a fine record this year that they are planning to tour the country in exhibition games with the Harlem Globetrotters.

Emma Taylor, the girl with the million dollar smile, is director of the Taylor School of Speech and Dramatics. On her staff are Alease Turner who speaks ten foreign languages fluently; Annie Jones, posture and breathing teacher; Joseph Lyons, business manager; Marian Morse, school nurse; and Shirley Scott, secretary. Shirley, due to the great turnover of business, is on duty twenty-four hours a day. Petersburg is also proud to have on its list of better business enterprises the Neverson Service Station which is operated by Bernice and Bernard Neverson. Ralph Nicholas has formed a church of which he is the pastor and he is very fortunate in having Leroy Powell as leader of the gospel choir. Vincent Stewart is head usher and treasurer of the church.

As the first warning is given for the continuation of the concert I start back for my seat. On the way I pass George MacLin and Robert Fitzgerald who are now in business selling used cars to eager customers. Juanita Owens stopped over in New York on her way to Alaska where she is establishing a branch office of the Owens Cleaners. Admiral Luther Morgan is hoping that Juanita will open a plant in the Fiji Islands where he is stationed. Taking a second look at three charming ladies in the outfits of airline hostesses I find them to be Mattie Lundy, Lucy Moore and Ida Myers. Their home base is the newly constructed Petersburg Airport for which Richard Hayes and Harold Matthews laid the bricks. India Nelson and Delores Jackson have collaborated in writing a book which has made the bestseller list; it's appropriately called "The Large and the Small of It".

As I take my seat the lights dim. From his first note to the last Vernon holds the audience spellbound. He is brought back again for curtain calls. It is indeed Vernon's night!

After the performance all of us are planning to meet at the Cafe Patee, a fabulous club managed by Glen Fitzgerald. The floor show which goes on three times an evening features Jackson's Rock and Roll Combo, named for Leroy Jackson. Nathaniel Gatlin who recently completed an engagement at Carnegie Hall is sitting in with the combo tonight. Joan Dillard of the famed Katherine Dunham's Dance Group is featured dancer with the show. Charles Harris, the famous Barnum and Bailey Circus clown, is appearing as guest star tonight and is also acting as m. c.

Well, I must hurry if I am to meet the deadline for tomorrow's paper. Don't forget to read my column called, "Looking with Lucy", in the second section of the New York Times.

Miss Harrison is welcomed to Senior Day activities by Samuel Creighton, president of the class.

Senior Day

SENIOR DAY
Highlighting the Senior Day Observance on Monday, December 5 was a program during the assembly period honoring Miss Otelia H. Harrison who retired from teaching last year and Irene Bethea, "Miss Senior" of 1955-56.

The program began with crowning of Irene Bethea, a popular senior, who was elected on the basis of scholarship, personality and character.

The tribute to Miss Harrison was made by Emma Taylor. The announcement was also made that the Senior Class had voted unanimously to dedicate the school annual to her in appreciation of her many years of devoted service as teacher at Peabody.

A special welcome was extended to parents and relatives who were guests of the seniors for the day's activities.

Rancho

One of the highlights of the school year was the presentation by the Music Department, under the direction of Mrs. B. G. King, of "Rancho Rivera," an operetta in two acts. Vernon Lee, Judith Cephas, Margaret Jordan, Marcellus Heath, Gloria Bowles, Walter Mitchell, Emma Taylor,

Rivera

William Clarke and Richard Hayes were outstanding in their roles. The entire cast gave a "first night" performance to be remembered. Superb, sparkling, colossal and gigantic were some of the expressions used to describe the presentation.

The Band

Time, patience and effort all play a major part in making our band the success that it is. Whether playing at a football game, at a concert or on parade, the band, under the direction of Mr. William McKinley, adds life and color to the occasion.

In order to achieve its greatest heights the members of the band must have that most important quality-teamwork.

There's Music In The Air

Singing in the school chorus is a well-organized and enjoyable activity for a large portion of our student body. This singing group under the leadership of Mrs. B. G. King has among its aims the development of poise and a free natural singing voice.

Through the study and rendition of worthwhile music, pupils learn to work, think and sing together as a team.
